Foreword

Because of the freedoms which we have and which we wish to hold after peace has been made, we choose these symbols as our theme for this annual.

Freedom of speech, freedom from fear, freedom from want, and freedom of religion give us the rights to express our opinions, relieve us from worry, protect us from physical want, and give us the right to attend the church of our choice.

We have many activities within the school that daily remind us of our privileges in using the freedoms and the gratitude we owe both to our forefathers and to men now fighting to maintain them.

"I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all"

In Appreciation

Mr. Bright

For his guidance both when entering and leaving high school, for his contributions to visual education, for his class room enthusiasm and excellent sense of humor we, the Class of 1944, wish to express our appreciation to Mr. James Bright.

OUR FRIEND, THE PROFESSOR

A teacher there is, both tall and lean
Whose disposition is far from mean.
He likes to joke, and it's often said
That his smile always beams like his shiny bald head.

He prances and dances in class every day,
And throws his arms in his own funny way.
But along with these antics, each day we acquire
Most valuable knowledge, (if we so desire).

Dark complected, with piercing eyes
Standing out like stars in the skies,
He seems alert and wide awake,
And sees each false move his students make.

A large black mustache is his pride and joy.
It makes Clark Gable's look like a toy.
Large hands and feet, and a tall lanky frame
Help support a keen mind, best described by his name.

Archimedes and Pascal great wonders have done,
But this scientist is both of them wrapped into one.
He teaches us laws such as Newton's and Hooke's,
And he's also a salesman of pamphlets and books.

Adventure is his middle name,
And his travels in Europe have gained him fame.
He's journeyed to many a foreign shore;
He's been in more countries than has Eleanor.

Through France he has taken many a hike.
He's covered the Balkans on his bike.
He knows about England and Holland and Spain.
He has seen Arctic snow, and felt tropical rain.

He tells of these travels in such pleasing ways
That his students could sit still and listen for days.
He seldom gets mad, but we all start to shiver
When his face turns to red, and his lip starts to quiver.

Brilliant and funny and friendly to all,
His heart is as big as his body is tall.
With his talents, unless I'm a very poor guesser,
His name should follow the title, "Professor".

In Appreciation

Robert Bauer

We, the class of '44, regret the inability of Bob to continue school and express our thankfulness for the time we were able to enjoy his fellowship.

Guiding Lights

SUPERINTENDENT R. C. FOX

Mathematics

B.S. in Ed., Muskingum College, 1929; M.A., Ohio State University, 1938.

PRINCIPAL H. R. HINTON

Biological and Social Sciences

B.S., Ohio State University, 1931-1935; Master of Arts, 1939-1942.

They Guide Us

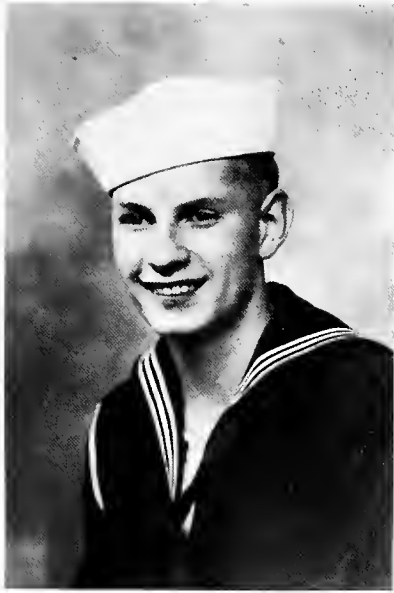

The Board of Education—Claron Hilbert (clerk) F. T. McCalla, Mervin Applegate, Glenn Burgoyne, Walter C. Smith, Glenn Ccountryman.

All the great nations of the world are engaged in war. All the precious privileges of civilized mankind are at stake. All the brains and genius, the wealth and power, the ingenuity and courage, the sacrifice and devotion of liberty-loving people are being mobilized in the gigantic struggle to defend and preserve the civilizations and cultures that have marked the upward climb from savagery.

When the story of the Second World War is told it will reveal the fact that the public schools of America have played an essential part in making for that national unity and that civilian efficiency so necessary in re-enforcing the military forces. The successful prosecution of the war rests primarily upon men, money and machine power. Education is the prerequisite to all power.

If ever there was a cause, if ever there can be a cause, worthy to be upheld by all of toil or sacrifice that the human hand or heart can endure, it is the cause of education.

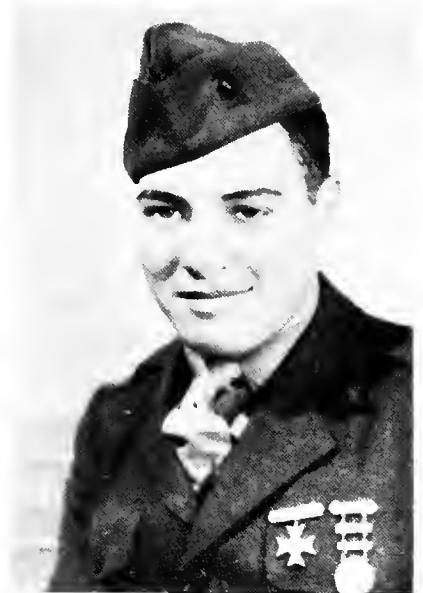

Boys from Class of '44 in Service

Harold Harkey

Lowell Metz

Richard Folk

Six boys from our class, seeing their need to be with the armed forces, withdrew from school to fight for their country.

Cleal Wonderly, Clair Scott, Paul Otis, and Harold Harkey withdrew and enlisted in the Navy. Dick Folk enlisted in the Marines and Uncle Sam called Lowell Metz as a leatherneck.

Although we regret that these boys were unable to finish school, they are fighting to preserve the privilege of others attending school. Boys, we are proud of you.

Ideal Faculty Member

Just as people have dreams about their ambitions and friends so do the students have a dream of their ideal teacher. The student body of Hicksville High School would have their teacher be worthy of student respect . . . not over twenty years old . . . good looking and one look enough to silence anyone . . . smiling like Lana Turner, sweet like Shirley Temple, voice like Judy Garland . . . humorous like Mr. Bright . . . strict but able to laugh . . . with pretty eyes and cheery smile . . . willing to see you get home safely . . . know how much a student can do and realize they have other subjects . . . be without "pets" (not the animal variety) . . . meet students half way . . . familiar with subject matter . . . interested in individual and group student problems.

History of the Senior Class

By Marcile Cottrell

We, in the fall of 1940, entered Senior High School with reverence and fearfulness in our eyes. We had one thing, however, to sustain us. We were the largest Freshman class in the history of the high school, with eighty members and were we proud of it! Mr. James A. Bright and Mr. La Mar Connolly assisted our class officers: president, Clair Sholl; vice-president, Barbara Seibert; and secretary-treasurer, Frances Smith, to complete a very successful year.

Then, we were Sophomores! We were self-assured and most of us thoroughly enjoyed our second year. Don Wade was chosen president, ably assisted by Frances Smith as vice-president and Gwen Limpert serving in the capacity of secretary-treasurer. Their well-planned activities were interrupted by the entry of our country into war.

At last, we became Juniors—upperclassmen—and had our share of the important events of the year. To guide us through this year, Lowell Metz was elected president; Jeannette Harkey, vice-president; and Janis Hurni, secretary-treasurer. Many of the Juniors in the journalism class helped publish the SPOONDRIFT, the school paper, while the Junior Play "Red-Hot Peppers" was a huge success under the direction of Miss Nellie Jane Tyner. The most exciting event of the year was the Reception we gave for the Seniors at which we all worked hard planning and decorating the gymnasium as a star-lit garden. Regretfully, we bade the Seniors farewell and soon we took their place.

Now, we are Seniors and strangely enough we don't feel very much older than when we were Freshmen and sometimes wonder how we got here. The years have flown by so swiftly and our once large class has shrunk pitifully to the number of fifty-two. This is due to so many of our fellow classmates joining the Armed Forces, and our hearts fill with pride as we remember them: Clair Scott, Cleal Wonderly, Basil Cook, Paul Otis, Dick Folk, Junior Teegardin, Harold Harkey, and Lowell Metz. Lee Miller left in order to continue his studies in college, Bob Bauers withdrew because of illness and many quit to work. Neal Keller was chosen president with Anna Laub as vice-president, Joanne Blacker, secretary and Gwen Limpert, treasurer. These officers were given the huge job of guiding our concluding activities.

We all enjoyed preparing the Senior Carnival and the presentation of our Class Play and lastly, we were admitted to the Alumni. Then we realized that our happy school days were over and we must take up the responsibilities of adult life in a war-torn world. But we look forward eagerly, with heads held high and a staunch determination to make this world, truly a better place in which to live.

Best Wishes from Crook Son & Company and

Gazing Into the Future

Will

We, the class of '44, being a little mentally unbalanced, do hereby will and bequeath these possessions to underclassmen, and declare this our last will and testament.

I, Leatrice Steele, will my good sense of humor to any worthy Junior.

I, Roger Husted, will my markings on being to school, to Norman Sholl.

I, Jeannette Harkey, will and bequeath my personality with the boys to Lois Aten.

I, Janis Hurni, will my ability to play the piano to Eudora Reitz, who I know gets her practicing done.

I, Clara Mae Jones, will my ability to get good grades in school to my sister, Alice.

I, Ray Bruggeman, will my plumpness to Max Grover.

I, James Timbrook, will and bequeath my black wavy hair to Kenneth Zimmerman.

I, Nona Countryman, leave my unquenchable liking for Bob Husted, to Mickey Zimmerman, Joan Mettert and Barbara Koch.

I, Virginia Lou Thiel, will my love for dancing to Barbara Koch.

I, Eloise Friend, will my love for the Marines to Dot Donaldson.

I, Joanne Blacker, will my "gift of gab" to any deserving Junior who will use it as an advantage.

I, Gwen Limpert, will my ability to go steady with one boy, throughout high school, to any worthy Freshman.

I, Anna Laub, will my speed in typing to my sister, Jeanne, providing she doesn't get as many words.

I, Marcile Cottrell, will my little English hand book to Miss Jones, because she likes it so well.

I, Duane Donaldson, will my wittiness to Bill Kuhl providing he can use it.

I, Neal Keller, bequeath my presidency and throne to the Senior whoever is elected.

I Frances Smith, bequeath my throne to the girl of '45, providing she doesn't trip going up the stairs.

I, June Jump, will my want for a soldier to Frances Kees.

I, Marcella Panico, will my long, dark hair to Eudora Reitz.

I, Edith Lantz, will and bequeath my winning smile to Frances Beerbower, if she uses it.

I, Genevieve Frye, will any ability to dance to Melba Deardorf.

I, John Keller, will my title of "Most Studious" to Kenneth Haver.

I, Rosemary Scott, will my personality title to Patsy Clark.

I, Baneta Yarger, leave my editorship to David Van Horn.

I, Doris Keller, leave my typewriter to any person who has strength to throw it out the window.

I, Virginia Moore, leave my temper to anyone with red hair, dyed or otherwise.

I, Mary Elizabeth Rhoades, will my dark hair and eyes to Vyrle Hinsch.

I, Herbert Scranton, will and bequeath my long hair and straight part to Carl Helsel.

I, Galen Green, leave my ability in the F.F.A. to Elmer Brisky.

I, Duane Rohrs, will my seat of Vice-President in F.F.A. for next year to Maurice Tuttle.

I, Junior Teegardin, will and bequeath my knack to arrive late to classes to some unsuspecting Freshman.

I, Dorothy Strubing, will and bequeath my athletic ability to any Sophomore who can use it to an advantage.

I, Lee Miller, will my ambitions to Don Culler, a worthy Freshman.

I, Maxine Burley, will my 1-A in Math to a worthy Freshman taking Algebra.

I, Clair Sholl, will and bequeath my athletic ability to Fred Billman.

I, Robert Husted, will my "woofing" to Kenneth Zimmerman.

I, James Wonderly, will and bequeath my black wavy hair to Carl Helsel.

I, Dorothy Kisabeth, will my constant laughing to Patsy Clark providing she doesn't laugh too loud.

I, Cecil Hook, will my butch haircut and blue eyes to Kenneth Kimpel.

I, Lester Kinzer, will my job as monitor to Norvel Banks.

I, Louise Beerbower, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to get on the honor roll to my sister Dorothy, who certainly needs it.

I, Betty Babcock, do hereby will and bequeath my quietness to Patsy Clark, who could certainly use it.

I, Robert Evans, will my tardiness in classes to Richard Paul Green.

I, Gerald Curry, leave my teachers to anyone who can hold their temper.

I, LaVon Haver, will and bequeath my ability to get around, to Bill Easterly.

I, Gene McClellan, will my shortness to Max Grover providing he doesn't grow.

We, Margy Ann Boone and Martha Beerbower, will and bequeath our inseparable companionship to Melba Deardorf and Margaret Panasuk.

I, Barbara Worrick, will my ability to be witty to Helen Kelly, if she doesn't carry on too much.

I, Bill Morhart, will my personality to Kenneth Zimmerman.

I, Louella Potter, will and bequeath my fair complexion to Virginia Kinzer.

I, Margie McCollough, will my red hair and temper to Grace Rhors.

I Eleanor Hetz will my basketball ability to Carol Campbell.

I, Gertrude Smith, will my love for basketball to any worthy Freshman.

Signed: CLASS OF '44.

Prophecy

By Jeannette Harkey and Leatrice Steele

Junior Teegardin, pilot on the newly invented Helicopter, flew past Main Street and picked us up for a very thrilling trip. As we started out across the Atlantic Ocean we noticed a very beautiful bridge being built. We fastened our straps and at once were on the ground talking to the engineers, none other than our classmates, Lester Kinzer, James Wonderly, Duane Rohrs and Galen Green. They explained to us that the bridge would be completed by 1960.

Going on across the Atlantic we stopped at Gibraltar; there we saw Robert Husted who told us he had come here to get away from the women.

We moved on to Paris where we were admiring the very beautiful nylon dresses being worn by the women. We stopped one girl and about fell over when we saw Joanne Blacker. She told us that she had come to Paris and started the nylon designs. Going on down the street in Paris we girls decided to have our hair fixed before we went on to England. We entered a Beauty Salon, where to our astonishment we found our hero basketball player, Clair Sholl, now known as Maurice Sholl, designing coiffures.

Taking off for London, England, we went to see a former classmate of ours, Prime Minister John Keller. His secretary was none other than Nona Countryman.

Moving on to South Africa we were welcomed by our old classmates, LaVon Haver and Janis Hurni Haver, running a rubber plantation with Ubangi servants. After staying over night with the Ubangis, we decided to head for our next destination, Australia.

We had to make a forced landing on the shores of Australia, and our plane was damaged, leaving us bruised and in the hospital. Our head nurse came in vision to us to be Frances Smith, with her assistants, Baneia Yarger and Dorothy Kisabeth. The doctor, too, was an old classmate, Cecil Hook, and his assistant, the former Margy Ann Boone, now Mrs. Cecil Hook.

While we were convalescing, we heard the nurses say that a famous actress was coming to the hospital on tour. We inquired further and found the beauty to be Margie McCollough. Bringing with her as a troupe, would be the "Three Stooges," James Timbrook, Duane Donaldson, and Ray Brugge-man.

Once again on our feet and O.K., we headed for South America. In Brazil we ran into Marcile Cottrell who was a secretary to the multi-millionaire, Roger F. Husted.

We decided to have a little relaxation, so we went to the night club El Morocco. We noticed the very charming cigarette girl, and upon closer observation she was, to our surprise, Rosemary Scott. The head waiter was also a classmate of ours, Gene McClellan.

Heading back to the United States we stopped at Mexico City, Mexico. We ran into Mary Elizabeth Rhoades running a southern shop for tourists. During our visit it was mentioned that Louella Potter and Virginia Moore had inherited some money and were traveling over the country.

Always having the desire to go to California we made that our next destination. San Francisco was our stop and we first went to the Barnum and Bailey Circus. Much surprised we found the outstanding trapeze performers to be Dorothy Strubing, Eleanor Hetz, and Gertrude Smith.

Due to the storm our course was lost and Bill Morhart, now an undertaker, dug us out and informed us we were in Holy Cross. Bill told us, also, that just down the road a few miles, Bob Evans was running a dog kennel.

On a ranch in Arizona we visited one of the modern ranch houses. Entertaining us on our stay were Harold and Barbara Worrick Harkey.

Not far from the Harkey ranch we visited Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Metz, (known to us as Eloise Friend), both of them being old classmates.

Going on to St. Louis, Missouri, there were Genevieve Frye, Marcella Panico, and Edith Lantz, running a style show bureau.

We found Clara Mae Jones as Dean of the Vassar College for girls in Poughkeepsie, New York.

While in Chicago Maxine Burley was writing radio scripts for a well-known serial, which was daily broadcast over the local station KBS, operated by Lee Miller.

Stopping for overnight in order to attend the Breakfast Club, we later found the announcer to be Anna Laub and at the control boards, June Jump and Betty Babcock.

Coming back to Hicksville we told our experiences to Doris Keller who now has a happy family, and to Louise Beerbower, who is the secretary to our mayor, Herbert Scranton.

Teaching in High School is our old classmate, Martha Beerbower; Gwen Limpert is Dean of the Girls College having newly been organized.

Covering a few more miles we flew to Columbus where we joined the governor's party which was celebrating Neal Keller's election to the gubernatorial position.

On the way back home we stopped at Lima where our old pal, Gerald Curry, was discovered managing his own bakery.

After returning home we still found time on our hands, so we took a long walk through the familiar streets of old Hicksville, which without our old classmates seemed deserted.

Juniors

By Patsy Clark

Out of the mist of the grades, to the dawn of junior high and finally the goal of high school was reached.

Those first weeks in high school were made even more interesting by our "Get-acquainted" class party in October and the election of class officers. Mr. Hugh Austermiller and Miss Esther Howenstine, being very able advisors, guided us through the year's activities.

The Sophomore year came and we journeyed back to school with even more confidence in ourselves. During our second year we elected student council members and again, class officers. Paul Deitz, president; Daniel Crawl, vice-president; Fred Billman, secretary.

Many members took part in such organizations as: band, F.F.A., F.H.A., chorus, and G.A.A.

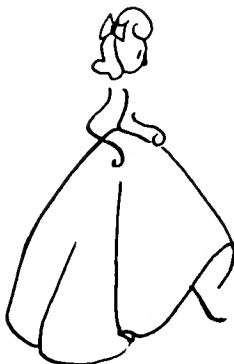

At last, we were upperclassmen. When we entered the school in September, 1943, as Juniors we were really a part of school life. Our basketball boys were Richard Paul Green, Norman Miller and Jack Gloor. We also elected new class officers, Richard Paul Green, president; Fred Billman, vice-president; Lila Lee Headley, secretary; and Gwen Keesberry, treasurer.

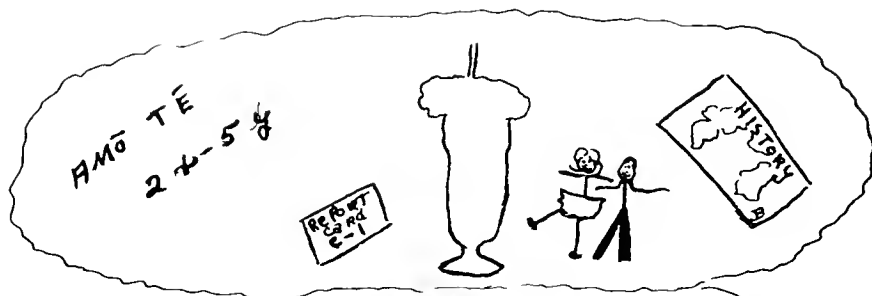

Our first class party was held December 17th, and it being the most successful party of our school life, we became more sure of ourselves.

This year we issued the "Spoondrift," our school paper, and under the direction of Miss Jones enjoyed every minute of working on the publication.

The class play "Plane Crazy" was another important event and all the cast thrilled at getting a glimpse of "backstage life."

As we look ahead to Senior life, although proud and happy, there is a slight tear in our eyes as we think of that day, not so far ahead, when we will leave school to become a part of the world.

The Sophomore Class started their scholastic activities in the year 1934. Since that time we've been moving steadily along, first into the new building and finally into high school.

Our Freshman year was highlighted by the sponsoring of a dance and a class party held in the gymnasium.

Many of our classmates participated in sports, F.H.A., F.F.A., and other organizations.

The election of officers found Rosalyn Daub leading the Sophomore Class with Fred Malott and JoAnn Beerbower respectively, as vice-president and secretary-treasurer. Again the members of the class carried a full schedule of studies and entered in all extra-curricular activities.

Another class party, with Freshmen as our guests, proved a huge success.

The various student social gatherings have been very enjoyable and we're looking forward to two more years of them when at last we'll be upperclassmen.

Freshmen Look Forward

By Eudora Reitz

When the doors of Hicksville High School swung open on a warm September day in 1943, a group of inexperienced Freshmen mingled their voices together to announce their arrival to the upperclassmen.

The following officers were elected to serve them for the ensuing year: president, Waldo Keller; vice-president, Bill Lower; secretary, Jeanne Lehman; treasurer, Michael Hicov. Patricia Miller and Don Culler served as representatives from the class to the Student Council.

Members of the class were active in G.A.A., Band, Chorus, and other school activities.

The Freshman class is looking forward to playing a larger role in the making of a better and finer Hicksville High School.

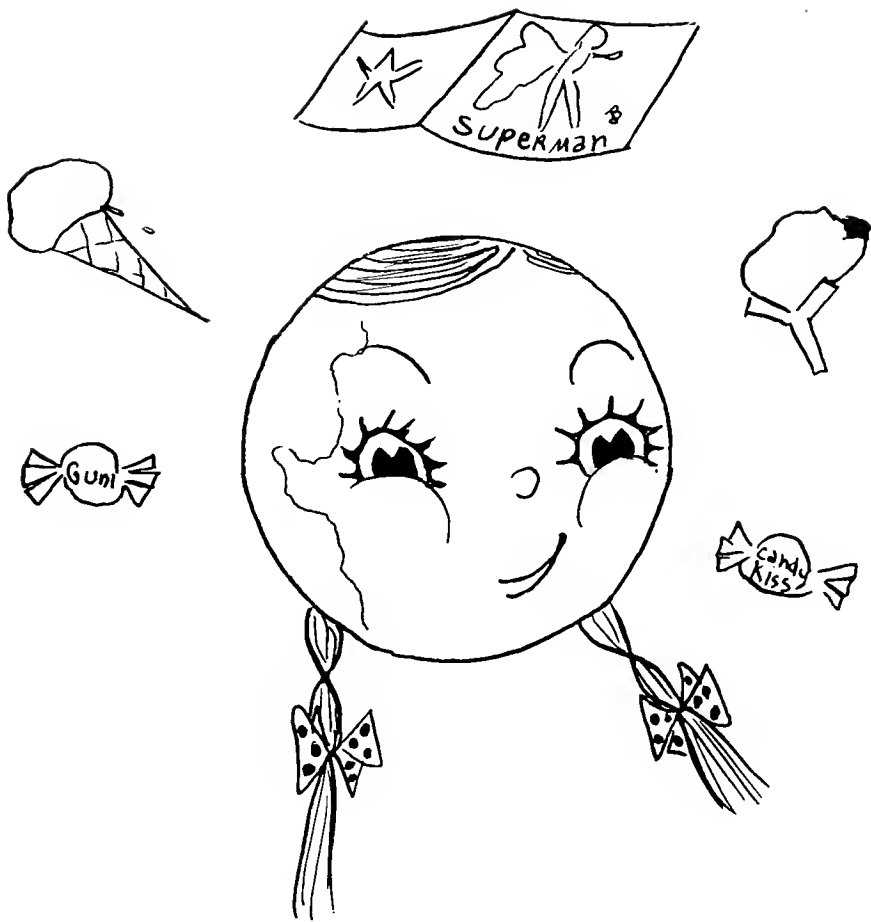

Freshmen Help Team

To keep in step with the changing teams, the Hicksville basketball squad and Hicksville fans face many changes. Freshmen filled the gaps left by men entering the armed services. Although the Freshmen were first considered as reserves for their senior members, they had little trouble in coming to the front of the spotlight. Waldo Keller and Jack Straley, both first year men, were a potential threat to the opponent varsity team. They are the only ones of the Freshmen who aided the varsity team in their successful schedule.

The members of the student council elected in 1943 returned this fall to give the activities of the council added impetus. The membership was made up of three representatives from each class and a faculty advisor. The program was continued through 1944 by January election of new members. The senior representatives remain as honorary members.

To be eligible for a major office in the student council, the student must have a grade average of C+ or better. The officers are a president from the junior class, a vice-president from the sophomore class, and a secretary from the freshman class.

The purposes of this organization are to establish a closer relationship between the faculty and the student body, stimulate school spirit, and to uphold the laws and regulations of our school.

Truly, this has been a successful year for the student council and may many more student governing bodies follow in the paths of this student council.

Under the able direction of Miss Eileen Jones, the Spoonrift was again a great success this year. The paper, published by the Junior Class, enabled the parents to get a clearer vision of the activities and functions of the school.

This year the same as last, the Spoonrift was published bi-monthly with a circulation of three hundred and fifty copies.

All typing and stenciling was done by the advanced typing classes under the supervision of Mrs. Wendell Culler.

The Language Department felt the need of an organization both social and academic. Consequently, the embryo group headed by Bruce Daub as president; Margaret Panasuk as program chairman, plus the aid of Fred Malott, Mildred Zimmerman and Bill Miller, outlined an academic meeting March 31, preceded by a Theatre Party March 24, a party for Eighth Graders interested in language April 28, and a final event arranged by Waldo Keller in May. Being organized has given Latin students greater opportunity for fellowship and acquisition of cultural background, especially with such qualified leaders as their President, Vice-president Pat Davis and Secretary Mildred Zimmerman.

On the night of November 12, 1943, at eight o'clock, the lights were dimmed and the Junior Class of the Hicksville High School presented its class play entitled "Plane Crazy." The story of the play is as follows:

Jimmy Haleon wants to fly. But because his father disapproves, Jimmy, still determined to fly, gets a job as hangar-boy at the airport.

Just as he is about to tell his father of his job, Mr. Haleon loses his temper over Jimmy's carelessness and locks Jimmy's pants in the closet so he cannot go out. Putrid saves the day by lending Jimmy his trousers. Some time later Jimmy arrives at Julie's hamburger stand where Muscles, Peggy, and Honey-Chile are gathered. Here, he finds out that his credit is no longer good and that Julie has sent his bill to his father; moreover, unless everybody pays up, Julie will be forced to close her business. Jimmy makes a deal with Julie to work out his debt and then enlists the help of the gang in staging a campaign to increase Julie's business.

With such a full schedule, the gang resolve to help Jimmy in his work so that his mother and father will not find out that he is working. But eventually the plot leaks out and to sum things together Jimmy and Peggy manage to run into a stone pillar at the airport.

Meanwhile Chip Burke, a flying instructor, has a talk with Mr. Haleon, and tries to convince him that flying is no more dangerous than automobiles, but Mr. Haleon doesn't need a sales talk. He decides that Jimmy really wants to fly, gives in and signs the permit.

CARNIVAL

An impressive ceremony in the auditorium opened the Senior Carnival, December 10, 1943. The King and Queen were crowned and the members of the court were decorated. This was followed by a brief program.

The Royal party led the way to the Carnival proper where such games as bingo, dart throwing, penny pitching, and basketball were played, together with sideshows and fortune telling. This provided an enjoyable evening for all.

Later in the program a dance, in the gym, took the spotlight, highlighted by a floor show and the music of Harry James via a jukebox.

All the members of the Senior class took part in making the occasion a great success.

On December 17, 1943, our class, the Junior, held their first party of the year, in the gym. Following the theme of a barn dance, the party was a great success and loads of fun. The committee, which was the losing team of the ticket-selling campaign for the class play, did everything in its power to make all have an enjoyable time. After everyone arrived, games were played and also an unexpected one-minute play was presented. After the play we chose Pigtail Queen and Overall King, Gwen Keesberry and Paul Dietz, respectively.

We auctioned off boxes in which all sorts of goodies were hidden and then the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing and teaching dancing to other members of the class.

Other social happenings have occurred during our school year, including an ice skating party, Junior play, roller skating party and having stands at the basketball games. All these have helped the class get better acquainted and co-operate with each other more efficiently.

The most important function of the year, though, was the Junior-Senior Banquet. In getting this banquet ready we all worked together as a whole and tried to make it bigger and better than ever before.

CHORUS

This year the chorus is comprised of seventy members under the direction of Mr. Carl W. Zimmerman. They sang a wide variety of songs, consisting of Negro spirituals, Latin songs, sacred songs, and modern American classics.

The chorus entertained at school activities, gave joint concerts with the band, and also an entire concert in April.

Although we have not been able to participate in any out-of-town programs, this has been a full and successful year.

BAND

Under the able direction of Mr. Carl W. Zimmerman, the Hicksville High School Band has steadily progressed through the year.

Due to the shortage of transportation, the band has had no out-of-town appearances but it has given four greatly appreciated concerts.

Something new to the band members this year was a merit and demerit system. This system was organized to keep the band members working and to eliminate unexcused absences. It has proved very satisfactory.

The membership of the band at present is forty-four members. Although this is somewhat smaller than in previous years, many grade students have taken up instruments.

We hope in the coming years the band will make as fine an appearance as it has, heretofore.

HAROLD WALLACE

His ability to handle men made everyone admire him. Due to the war, his 43-44 team was hurt by the loss of Lowell Metz during the summer to selective service and Robert Bauers withdrew from school because of illness. But in spite of this he developed a remarkable team. His teams under him, will never forget the the expression "You Stink" in the dressing room, which seems to get results.

Best Wishes from Carey and Son Garage

Bruce "Archie" Doub—kept us in the game by his rebounds and keeping up our slogan "be on the ball". Bruce is a sophomore and was a great asset to the team and has two more years of varsity play.

Jack "Esther" Gloor—over fifty per cent of his season's score was obtained by out-jumping his opponent under the basket. His fast breaking made him the life of the game. Jack is a junior who we hope will be back next year because he was a great asset to the team.

Richard "Nathi" Green—one of the most important players on the team who is fast breaking and whose shooting ability put us ahead in many games. Nathi has another year as a varsity man.

Neal "Dave" Keller—one of the most consistent men on the squad, could play any position and still make a winning combination. Although he was seldom high man in scoring, he generally got his share.

Clair "Skimpy" Sholl—an Army Air Corps Reserve, who could make the opponent look like a "hick" and he did. Clair stole the ball, faked his enemy out of position and scored. He guarded the best opponents and Skimpy was always to be depended upon in the tense moments.

Grover "Pete" Culler—a great relief man who could stick his man and who really trained. Pete's a sophomore and has two years yet as a varsity man.

Max "Whacky" Ginther—although little, he showed his spirit by fighting hard when called. Max is a sophomore and has two years of varsity play.

LaVon "Ootch" Haver—wasn't always in the starting lineup, but in each game managed to relieve some tired Ace and give the fans a show. Not very tall but he proved that height isn't everything. His deceptive passes and quick break made him a favorite with the fans.

Waldo "Junior" Keller—only a freshman but he sparkled with his ability in being able to put the ball through the hoop. Waldo showed his sense of timing and stole the pants off his opponent.

Jack "Chesty" Straley—although only a freshman he showed his ability along with the best of players.

In September, 1937, the Girls' Athletic Association was organized by its present advisor, Mrs. Anna Schofer Bright. At the present time there are fifty girls taking part in basketball, bowling, badminton, table tennis and bicycling. The sixteen girls receiving the highest number of points in these sports are awarded letters.

The meetings were held on the second and fourth Monday nights of the months. A business meeting conducted by the president, Gwen Limpert; Eleanor Hetz, vice-president; Maxine Burley, secretary; Dorothy Strubing, assistant secretary; June Jump, treasurer; Dorothy Monroe, assistant treasurer, was held at the beginning of the evening.

The main event of the year was the banquet to which all girls' mothers were invited. At this final meeting all the girls' athletic awards were given.

Have you lost anything? Due to losses of articles from lockers a student monitor plan was organized. Each period during the day on each of the floors some responsible student is on duty. Each student, upon securing locker permission, must present to the floor monitor a slip showing his locker number and teacher's signature granting permission. This plan has helped curtail locker confusion and book losses.

The students, doing monitor duty the various periods of the day, are:

First period—Leatrice Steele, Eleanor Hetz, Maurine Tuttle.

Second period—Wayne Timbrook, Roselene Wonderly, Vada Bauer.

Who's that hurrying down the street?
Wearing pretty hats, so

Why, that's Miss Lois Smith
Our High School secretary.

She works up in the office,
And keeps everything in place.

She must listen to all complaints
And keep a smiling face.

She answers all the phone calls

And takes dictation, too.

But always takes a minute off
To run errands for me and you.

She types the tests, records
the grades,
And sees that the attendance
is right,

Supervises the monitors
And gives out slips, "blue" or "white."

She counts all the money,
And puts it in the bank.
And for helping with the Spoondrift,
The Juniors have her to thank.

She sells all the books,
Keeps the records up to date.
Must attend many meetings
And never dare be late.

She is very accommodating,
As you can plainly see.
She falls in line at the noon hour

And orders lunch for three.

Was it the Seven-Up she drank,
That made her lose her keys?
Or was it the terrible confusion,
When she tries so many to please?

She's just a secretary
And tho' I haven't told the half,
You can see she is just as essential
As anyone on the staff.

The Future Farmers of America is a national organization of farm boys who study vocational agriculture in the public high schools throughout the United States, also Puerto Rico and Hawaii.

The ideals upon which the organization is built are patriotism, leadership, citizenship, organized recreation, thrift, scholarship, service, cooperation, character development, and improved agriculture.

There are four degrees of membership, namely, "Green Hand," "Future Farmer," "State Farmer," "American Farmer." The local F.F.A. chapter determines the first two advancements while the state decides the third, and the national organization, the fourth.

Officers are Ray Bruggeman, president; Duane Rohrs, vice-president; James Timbrook, secretary; Galen Green, treasurer; Paul Dietz, reporter; Douglas Miller, sentinel; Mr. J. R. Beam, advisor.

CHAPELS

This year, as is the custom of the past, part of the school hours have been set aside for religious education. Once a month it is the privilege of the High School and Junior High School to have as their guest one of the members of the local Ministerial Association.

It is felt that a religious education is necessary in the line of school education; as a further acknowledgement of this fact there is a weekly educational program for the members of the Junior High classes.

It is only through the help and co-operation of the Ministerial Association that we, as students, are privileged with this education.
